The 2020 theme is Unexpected Intersections. We get the irony; the theme is now infused with unexpected new meaning. As a result, this is the first time the festival will roll out online and in-person in its 10-year history. This year's circumstances have meant the loss of many opportunities for the arts community to showcase their work. Ever resilient, artists are rallying to present innovative interpretations of their offerings in recognition of the unexpected. Think virtual multicultural festival in Prince Albert, SK, complete with food trucks if you're local. Envision a livestream One-Minute Talent Competition out of Vaughan, ON, or spend a night at the museum in Winnipeg, MB. Start the quest with a visit to the Events section.

Thanks to an overwhelming response, we've extended event registration to Thursday, September 24. Creators have more time to add their flavour to the stew. All creative expressions are welcome; Culture Days is an avenue to share your passion with a new audience. Visit our resources section, made just for creators, for inspiration and help with reimagining your art in a digital world.

About Culture Days

Culture Days has become the largest cultural event in Canada, attracting an estimated 2.5 million annual attendees to thousands of free activities and performances hosted by artists, cultural organizations and municipalities in hundreds of communities across Canada. The range of events is as vast and diverse as Canada itself. From the Yukon to New Brunswick, British Columbia to Hudson's Bay – and all points in between – Culture Days highlights and amplifies the diverse arts and cultural life of our communities. As a leading national voice for an active and engaged cultural life, Culture Days provides a range of tools and skill development resources that lead to greater cultural engagement. The Culture Days annual national awareness campaign typically culminates in a three-day celebration of the arts starting on the last Friday of September. Culture Days is a registered charity, visit culturedays.ca for more information and to donate.
